Giving business teams the power to automate with confidence.

While Edgevantage and VE3 are engineered for complex, high-value enterprise workflows, many organisations also need a simpler, self-service platform to manage everyday processes.

Over the years, clients have consistently asked for a solution that allows them to design, configure, and manage their own workflows without custom development.

 is our answer!

FLOW is a lightweight, flexible workflow engine that empowers businesses to automate routine processes using intuitive, generic user interfaces — without sacrificing control or visibility.

Zero

Custom development required to launch a workflow

Self-Service

Teams design and manage their own workflows

3+

Platforms in our automation ecosystem

Built for Everyday Operations

FLOW enables organisations to quickly build and manage smaller, high-frequency workflows such as:

Leave requests and approvals

Simple customer service requests

Customer profile maintenance for banks, insurers, and brokers

Ticketing and support workflows

Internal administrative processes

With FLOW, teams can define their own workflow steps, user interfaces, and routing logic – giving them the freedom to automate operational tasks without relying on engineering teams.

Built for Simplicity, Speed & Control

FLOW was architected by Dinesh Wijesinghe to deliver a streamlined automation experience that complements our enterprise-grade platforms. It provides:

Easy workflow creation

Configurable forms and interfaces

Rapid deployment

Minimal training requirements

Full visibility into process status and performance

This makes FLOW ideal for organisations that want to empower internal teams while maintaining governance and consistency.

Ready for Customer Trials & Deployment

FLOW is now in the final stages of testing and has been released to SP Solutions for customer trials and early deployments.

The platform is designed to sit alongside VE3 and Edgevantage, giving clients a complete automation ecosystem — from simple workflows to the most complex enterprise processes.

Let's simplify your everyday workflows.

Get in touch to trial FLOW and see how quickly your teams can start automating their own everyday processes.
